Gone

It didn't take long for wrecking crews to demolish the old C & EI train station Wednesday. The building — a landmark in Findlay — was believed to be over 90 years old. Word that the building was going to be demolished came on short notice when the Union Pacific Railroad notified the Village of Findlay that utility service would need to be disconnected by Wednesday.

Old Findlay rail depot torn down Tuesday

Another Findlay landmark is gone. Demolition crews leveled the Findlay railroad depot Wednesday, and by the evening the area has taken on a totally new look.

While specific information about the old railroad depot, was unavailable, it is generally believed that the building was constructed in the early 1890s when the railroad first went through Findlay.

The railroad was built in 1890. At that time, Findlay had a post office, but the town was not incorporated.

After the railroad went through town, Findlay began to assume the proportions of a village, and soon the thought of incorporation was taken. A petition was circulated and in a short time the incorporation of Findlay was secured. In the course of a few days an election was called, officials were elected and the village of Findlay was incorporated in 1891.

When the railroad was built in 1890, it was around 100 feet wide. The railroad had two freight divisions, Salem and St. Louis.

According to research, the property on which the old station was built was deeded to the C & EI Railroad Co. Oct. 13, 1890, by Enoch Fritter and wife, Margaret. Another deed transaction from the Fritters and W.H. Mearns and wife, dated to the railroad took place April 8, 1891.

Ten years later in the Feb. 20, 1901 issue of the Enterprise, there was the following advertisement for the Chicago and Eastern Illinois R.R. "To Chicago: With the recent change of time the passenger service for Chicago, the North and Northwest via the Chicago and Eastern R.R. has been greatly improved. Two trains are in service. One daily except Sunday, a daylight train. The other every day, a night train. The new Free Reclining Chair Cars and Room Buffet Sleeping Car and following morning. This arrangement gives our patrons the most comfortable and unequalled service for all northern points. For rates, time tables and further information apply to any agent."

After a call to the owner of the property, the Oaten Pacific (which recently took over the Mteenrt-Pacific Mae) gleaned no information on the history of the old state, the information on the old rail line was researched by a local historian after Pauline Briney with assistance from Betty J. Coventry and Joan Lucas.

The area of town where the Findlay train depot was located is beginning to look empty. Recent remodeling by Livergood Grain Co. will add two grain elevators.

Formerly, the town of Findlay was the town if they come back for a visit.

Last year, when it first became known the railroad was planning to remove the old depot, there was some interest expressed in having the building moved and remodeled. However, no action was taken and before anything else was heard, the railroad had the building removed earlier this week.

Board learns utility costs have decreased

Utility costs for Findlay schools declined over $5,000 during the past three years, the Findlay School Board learned last week.

At a time when utility costs have been escalating, Findlay's decreased, in large part because of a reduction in the cost of the natural gas bill at the high school.

Unit superintendent Ron Hash presented figures on utility costs for the high school, grade school and bus garage at the board meeting last Wednesday.

Gas costs have increased, but electric costs have decreased. The total utility costs for the three year period.

During the past school year, 1985-86, total utility costs were $15,124.52 for all four utilities. At the high school, the breakdown was: $14,000.00, electric; $1,124.52, gas; $999.52, water; $1,124.52, sewer. At the grade school, $4,124.52, electric; $4,124.52, gas; $1,124.52, water; $1,124.52, sewer. At the bus garage, $1,124.52, electric; $1,124.52, gas; $1,124.52, water.

Total utility costs for the previous school year, 1984-85 were $1,000 higher. The breakdown at the high school, $13,000.00, electric; $1,000.00, gas; $999.52, water; $1,000.00, sewer. At the grade school, $3,000.00, electric; $4,124.52, gas; $1,124.52, water; $1,124.52, sewer. At the bus garage, $1,124.52, electric; $1,124.52, gas; $1,124.52, water.

In the third year of figures presented by Hash, 1983-84, the breakdown was: at the high school, $12,000.00, electric; $1,000.00, gas; $999.52, water; $1,000.00, sewer. At the grade school, $3,000.00, electric; $4,124.52, gas; $1,124.52, water; $1,124.52, sewer. At the bus garage, $1,124.52, electric; $1,124.52, gas; $1,124.52, water. Total utility expense $15,124.52.

Once again, the board tabled a request by Findlay FFA advisor Brian Wood to purchase a tractor for the FFA program. Before they approve the purchase, the board asked Wood to check on insurance and equipment to use with the tractor.

Wood approached the board last month about purchasing a 3000 tractor at a cost of $2,750. At the time, some board members expressed reluctance at the purchase. In the past, FFA students borrowed equipment from area farmers.

Approximately 35 students were involved in the Findlay FFA program during the past school year. There were an additional 25 students enrolled in agriculture classes with a slight increase expected in the coming school year.

In other action, the board learned that registration for the 1986-87 school year will be Tuesday, Aug. 12. The first day of school will be Aug.

Sunken Gardens, Allerton Park is setting for June 22 wedding

The setting for their first date was the setting for the wedding of Rita Diane Lumsden and John Edmond McIntosh.

The couple was married at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, June 22 in the Sunken Gardens of Allerton Park, Monticello.

The bride is the daughter of Pauline Lumsden of rural Bethany and the late Robert Lumsden. The bridegroom is the son of Charles and Margaret McIntosh of Monticello.

The Rev. Steven Blaum of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church of Bethany performed the double ring ceremony before an altar set up at the west end of the gardens. Brass plant stands holding baskets of English and variegated ivy sat in front of each white pillar. Window boxes filled with silk flowers in mauve and periwinkle were placed at the far end of crescent shaped walls.

Wedding music including "Canon In D" by Pachelbel, "à Joy of Mani Desiring" by Bach and "Ode to Joy" by Beethoven was performed by harpist Dr. Shirley Blankenship of Champaign.

The bride wore a tea length dress made of English ivy. She carried a cascade of English ivy, white ranunculus, lily of the valley and stephanotis.

Linda Imig of Normal was the maid of honor, and Ctdy Luck of Bethany was the bridesmaid.

The bride's attendants were attired in periwinkle chiffon tea length dresses. They carried bouquets of English ivy, Persian violets, lily of the valley and baby's breath.

Serving as the best man for the wedding ceremony was Don Sumner of Clinton. Jim McIntosh of Monticello, brother of the bridegroom, was the groomsmen.

Ushering the guests to their seats were Stanley E. Bement and Gary Beckmann of BeOeride.

Stacia Andruczyk of Monticello was the flower girl. She wore a tea length dress of antique white chiffon over satin which was made by the bride's sister, Mary Lumsden. Nathan McIntosh, son of the bridegroom, was the ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a dusty rose chiffon dress, and the bridegroom's mother wore mint green cunon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Edward McIntosh

A reception followed the wedding ceremony and was held in The 1900 House, a restored mansion in Decatur.

The cake was baked, decorated and served by a friend of the bride's family, Louise Keown of Bethany. It was surrounded and topped with pink carnations, sweetheart roses and purple statice. Tracey Fields assisted at the cake table.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Bethany High School and a 1981 graduate of Minois Wesleyan University in Bloomington. She received a master's degree in social work from the University of Illinois in IMS and is employed by the Macon-Piatt counties Special Education District as a social worker for three elementary schools in Decatur.

The bridegroom is a 1972 graduate of Monticello High School and attended Parkland College in Champaign. He is employed as an assistant manager of McIntosh Implement in Monticello.

Following a honeymoon trip to Mackinaw Island, Mich., the couple is making their new home in Monticello.

Mendi McCiain competes Week-long schedule of events for crown of fairqueen planned for Shelby County Fair

A young Findlay woman is a contestant in the Shelby County 4-H and Junior Fair Queen Contest. Mendi McCiain of Findlay, daughter of Ron and Brenda McCiain, is one of 11 fair queen candidates competing for the crown.

The contest will be held two days before the fair begins at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, July 26 in the Chatauqua Building, Forest Park in Shelbyville.

The eleven contestants will be judged on speech, beauty of face, swim suit competition, evening gown competition and spontaneous response. The candidate chosen will reign over Shelby County during the 1988-89 year. She will also represent Shelby County at the State Miss Illinois County Fair Pageant in January.

This year's county pageant is planned and coordinated by Diane Crowder, Barbara Degler, Annette Dunaway, Lori Largent, Cheryl Schrock, Kathy Smith, Helen Yabey, Marilyn Biehler and Diane Myatt.

The 1988 contestants are:

Andrea Ballard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ballard of Shelbyville. Andrea plans to attend Eastern Illinois University in Charleston this fall. She is enrolled in the Honors Program. During high school Andrea was very active in volleyball, National Honor Society, student council, flag corps and Spanish Club.

by Edward N. Ballard
Farm Advisor, Shelby County

With the heat period coming to an end it means lots of corn will be going under a long term storage program. Remember a few important points when considering the movement of this corn, continued storage under three-year reserve, and the storage of the 1986 crop.

Good sanitation is a must if we plan to keep new corn as well as old corn. If the 1985 corn is to remain in storage, move and consolidate this old corn so that whenever possible 1986 corn can be placed into empty bins. Storing new grain on top of old grain exposes the new crop to insect infestation that is already established. Clean all grain from bins by scooping and sweeping, and spray the walls and floors of empty bins with malathion, methoxychlor, or Roldan before storing the 1986 crop. Application rates for these products are listed on the label.

Preparation is needed for long-term storage, three-year reserve. Special management practices are necessary for successful long-term storage without excessive damage to grain. Practices that are adequate for maintaining grain quality from fall harvest until spring sale often are inadequate for continued storage through summer or for as long as three years. To maintain the quality of stored corn a three-year reserve, dry the corn to a moisture content of 12 to 13 percent. Corn must be stored safely through one or more summers at 15.5 percent moisture. At the beginning of the long-term storage period, move the corn to an empty bin. Moving the corn makes it possible to clean it, remove fine materials, and apply protectant insecticides. Always move the corn to an empty bin that has been sprayed with malathion, methoxychlor or Roldan. Clean the grata to reduce levels of fine materials. A rotary cleaner does a better job than a screen or perforated section of an auger.

As corn is moved into the bin, treat all of it at the same time with malathion. Malathion will protect the corn, dried to 12 percent moisture, from all pests except Indian meal moth for more than one year. Treat the surface of the grata nest April or May by rotating the Bacillus thuringiensis, which sells by several trade names, to control Indian meal moth.

The University of Missouri Extension entomologists is working on a long term research project on the effectiveness of long term storage grain. To do this work, they will need to treat corn going into 16 different bins, or flat storage, and are looking for cooperators to work on this project.

If you have 1985 corn going into three-year storage reserve program and would be interested in working with the University of Illinois entomology department, contact the Shelby County Cooperative Extension office for more details.

Grain Storage Meeting

With the increasing number of questions in regard to grain storage this fall the Agriculture Extension Council has scheduled an informational meeting to be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 5 at the 4-H Center in Shelbyville.

Warren Gostech, University of Illinois agricultural engineer, will be present to discuss the outlook for the grain storage situation this fall. He'll be looking at the different types of drying of storage systems as well as different types of temporary grain storage. This should be a very informative meeting, and Gostech will be available to answer questions or will be available for on the farm assistance in helping design grain storage or temporary grain storage.

Conservation Tillage Tour

The annual Shelby County Conservation Tillage tour has been scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 6. The tour is sponsored by the Shelby County Soil and Water Conservation District Board and the Shelby County Extension Service.

The tour will start at 12:45 p.m. at the Cooperative Extension office or at the Jerrold McKittrick farm in Clarksville Township at 1 p.m.

There has been an increased interest in reducing fertilizer costs by going back to row type applications, and the first two stops will teach you two different methods of row applications of fertilizer.

Jerrold McKittrick row fertilized all his corn and soybeans this spring with the Yetter band row applicator. The Yetter fertilizer system was placed on the front of the planter where he applied liquid fertilizer at planting time. For his tillage systems the fields were soil saved last fall, and then this spring disked and field cultivated and then planted. The second stop will be on the Charles Gritzmacher farm in Shelbyville Township where Charley has rigged up his own homemade row fertilizer applicator. Charley followed the MUM type of fitting program max jerron te or made Ne sen row tafflar epucstor.

The third farm to be visited on the tour will be the Bob Conine farm at Tower Hill Towne No. 1. Bob has gone to row till system of tillage. At this stop we will also have Bob Boehle, agronomist and soil consultant, present to talk about soil compaction. We will be digging a hole at this farm and comparing the compaction of the row-till versus other types of tillage systems.

More details on the Conservation Tillage Tour will be announced in the near future.

Scholarship is available

Applications are now being accepted by the Trust Department, First Trust Bank of Shelbyville, for a scholarship to be awarded in August as a result of a trust fund established under the Last Will and Testament of Kenneth Diehl.

The trust specifies that annually scholarship funds will be provided to a college student majoring in agriculture, a resident of Shelby County, Illinois, and having successfully completed two years of college. It further provides for a committee consisting of the Superintendent of Schools of Shelbyville school district, Shelby County Extension Advisor and Trust Officers of the First Trust Bank of Shelbyville to determine the recipient of the annual scholarship award. The amount of the scholarship, amounting to $1,400 for 1986, is derived from the annual income from the trust fund.

Students interested in applying for this year's Kenneth Diehl Scholarship award should contact Bob Pancoast or Don Behl at First Trust Bank of Shelbyville. Applicants must be a graduate of a Shelby County high school, successfully having completed two years of college, majoring in agriculture, and must be academically in good standing with financial need and good character. Applications are due by Aug. 12.

Program continues for two more weeks

Two more weeks of activities remain for participants in the Findlay Summer Recreation Program.

During the week of July 28-July 31, the theme of activities will be "Community Week."

During the week, rec program participants will be visiting several places of interest in the community.

They will also hold trash walks to pick up garbage, conduct a "Beautiful Town" poster contest and have games and crafts.

The field trip on Thursday, July 31 will be to swim and hear a presentation by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

For the last week of the summer recreation program, Aug. 4-7, there will be "lip sync" performances by the children and staff at a special show to be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 5. Parents and friends are invited to attend the performance.

Findlay Days to be Aug. 29, 30

The annual Findlay Days celebration will be held in downtown Findlay Friday, Aug. 29 and Saturday, Aug. 30.

Organizations or individuals wishing to have booths or exhibits, etc. should contact Don Johnson at 756-4192 or Harold Macklin at 756-8863 as soon as possible.

Benefit is a success

The benefit for Ruth Hubbard held Saturday evening in the basement of the First Christian Church was turned highly successfully by organizers.

Over $800 was raised as a result of the dinner and donations received at the benefit meal.

Although a "head" count of people served was not taken, the food line was fairly steady all evening.

During "Health and Safety Week" participants enjoyed a trip to the Findlay Fire Station with a presentation by Sandy Dawdy and Mike Oldham. A safety talk was presented by emergency medical technician Sherry Giles.

Other activities were: the A to Zebra Summer Reading Program presented by Susan Vadenkin; a trash walk; games and crafts. The field trip was to Decatur to visit St. Mary's Hospital, the Citizen's National Bank, Nelson Park for lunch and the WAND-TV station.

"Our summer rec program is almost over, but we have had so much fun, and the time has passed so quickly," program director Debbie Spelman said. She urged children between the ages of 7-11 to "come for the last two weeks."
