Sevems resigns before he starts as Findlay marshal

If it's possible to resign from a job before you even started working, that's what happened this week in Findlay.

John Sevems of Cowden who was hired last week by the Findlay Village Board to be the new Findlay village marshal informed village president Pauline Briney Tuesday he had accepted another position.

At the time he was hired last week, he told the board he would need to give his present employer, the Shelby County Sheriff, a two week notice so he was not due to start working in Findlay for at least another week.

Sevems accepted a position as chief of police of Thomasboro.

What's slickey, slimey, gooey, attracted to vehicles, clothing and shoes and keeps some of our village streets as black as the ace of spades? If you've been in town this year you probably have cussed and discussed it.

It might have been a bargain as far as oiling roads goes, and it looks like it will last for a long time — maybe forever. I was told that the stuff comes up and reseals itself. I'm not an expert on resealing, but I don't have to be super intelligent to see that it certainly does come up and make itself visible and makes drivers and even pedestrians livid. I think what was saved with the new type road oil will no doubt be spent on sand to cover it.

Now I know how to get the oil off the car. You send it out to some (He who cleans cars. That's okay, but I don't know how to get the oil stains off my clothes, and I haven't found a way to get it off the bottom of my shoes and consequently the carpeting. Thank God for sand and plenty of it.

When I made a second trip to town about 5 or 6 o'clock that nasty black stuff was pretty well covered by some nice clean looking sand. It made the whole town look better. But in all seriousness, wouldn't we save some money if those streets had been sealed for life? Surely sand is cheaper than oil.

Don't forget the triathlon tomorrow (Saturday). It should be lots of fun. I certainly enjoyed it last year and expect to enjoy it even more this year. Go spend the day. See the swimmers go into the water all at one time, then see which one is first to return. Then there's the bicycling and running. After that, entertainment will continue. Don't bring your lunch. A firm out of Shelbyville will be there to keep you from getting hungry. Come on out and have a good time with your friends and neighbors. And if you see some strangers there you probably could make them your friend also. This is a big event, and participants and spectators come from far and wide to see it. And it's almost right in our own back yard, so if you can, BE THERE.

I did not attend graduation exercises at Findlay High School this year. Bart Robinson graduated from Bethany High School the same night, and after all where would a good grandma go? I suppose it was as hot in Findlay's gym as it was in the one at Bethany. Pure torture. Maybe it would be nice if both schools could plan to have their services outside, if possible. We'd probably be borrowing chairs from all over town, but it would beat melting. The graduates did form a line on both sides of the front walk when it was time for congratulations, so we got out of the heat a little sooner. Wayne and Connie held a reception for Bart at Reggie's in downtown Bethany, and you can bet your boots it was a nice cool party. I don't know if I ever appreciated air conditioning more.

After talking briefly with Sandy Bender I really wanted to hear her address the Findlay Class of '86. She's such a cut, vibrant person I just know she must have been a good speaker, and I'm sure she's young enough to relate to the kids better than some of us could.

Well Class of '86, you've reached a milestone, and you're on your way! Where life takes you depends mostly on you. But remember we're always here to back you in any way we can. Congratulations! Good Luck! And God Bless you in whatever you choose to do!

St. Jude fund raiser will be held June 14

A fundraising event for St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital will be held Saturday, June 14 at the Findlay High School parking lots according to Pam Bradford, chairman for the event.

The fundraising event honors Jaime, a leukemia patient at St. Jude. "People willing to give time to create more time to children crying for help stimulates a better event and raises more money for the hospital. Participants are really needed," Bradford said.

Participants who raise $25 receive a St. Jude tee-shirt. When $75 is raised, the rider receives a barrel tote bag and a tee-shirt. Sponsor sheets are available at Edi's Dairy Bar, R & K or from Julie Bernstein.

Clinic to be June 24

The Findlay Junior Woman's Club will sponsor a bicycle safety clinic at 2 p.m. Tuesday, June 24 on the playground at Findlay Grade School.

The program will include a 10 minute movie on bicycle safety, a bicycle inspection and an obstacle course. A certified bicycle safety instructor from the Shelby County Extension Service will conduct the clinic.

CIPS plugs into Illinois coal.

When you see a pile of Illinois coal, it's hard to believe it contains energy. Every day at CIPS we use that energy to make electricity. And by buying Illinois coal, we contribute to the energy of our economy, and that's important to all of us!

CIPS has been committed to using Illinois coal for decades. In 1985, we bought almost four million tons of Illinois coal, at a cost of over 127 million dollars. In fact, about 33 cents out of each dollar you pay us for electricity goes for coal. J Ctfi

But the economic effects of using Illinois coal go far beyond our initial purchase. That money goes out into the community. For each dollar we spend on Illinois coal, there is an estimated additional benefit of $1.11 to Illinois' economy. That means our 1985 coal purchases benefitted the Illinois economy by nearly half-a-billion dollars.

We're proud of that, and proud to be associated with the Illinois coal industry.

X-RAYS REVEALED

X-rays are one of the most useful tools at a dentist's disposal. The three most common types of X-rays are those which are taken with the film inside the mouth. A "bitewing" X-ray shows the upper and lower teeth on one film. It is used to detect decay between the teeth and bone loss in the early stages of gum disease. A "set of bitewings" consists of two to four pictures. A "periapical" X-ray shows an entire tooth, including the root tip and some surrounding tissue. It is useful in detecting problems at the end of the root as well as visualizing impacted teeth. An "occlusal" X-ray shows the roof or floor of the mouth. It can reveal teeth embedded in the jaw that have not yet erupted.

Modern methods and the latest equipment make this kind of picture-taking much safer and more informative than ever before. Radiation has been reduced, the procedure is quick and easy on the patient. The results are available at once. These picture are more precise and detailed and of great value to the dentist.
