Dental practice to open in Findlay in mid-June

By Cherise Cruit

It's been over 40 years since there was a practicing dentist in Findlay, but things will be changing within a month.

Jerry L. Hastings, D.D.S. and William Havlik, D.M.D. will be opening a dental practice in Findlay starting in mid-June. Remodeling on an office for the two dentists has been going on for the past several months, and a target date of Monday, June 16 was set for the opening of the practice.

According to mayor Pauline Briney, the last dentist to practice in Findlay was in town "right after World War II but not much longer."

Doctors Hastings and Havlik will have part time hours in Findlay. They have an office in Mattoon and another satellite facility in Sullivan at the Fields-Wright Medical Facility.

Even though the dentists will have only part-time hours in Findlay, there will be a full-time staff available in Findlay Monday through Friday to schedule appointments. Working in the Findlay office with the dentists will be Marlene Rodman and Sue Booker.

Dr. Havlik will have hours in Findlay on Monday, and Dr. Hastings will have hours in Findlay on Thursday. Dr. Hastings stressed that if an emergency situation develops, patients telephone the Findlay office and can either come to the Mattoon or Sullivan offices or the dentists will try to come to Findlay.

Dr. Hastings stressed, "These are beginning hours. As the need is there, we will expand . . . we are not locked into the hours." He also said that he and Havlik expect to have a full time assistant added to the practice soon. The number may be expanded to as many as two new dentists joining the practice in the future.

In addition to the hours two days a week, there may also be dental services available on Saturday and in the evening in Findlay. He said, possibly, some Saturday hours and some evening hours" may come in the future. Dr. Hastings said he knew it was important to set up this type of hours because, "Findlay is a bedroom community for people who work in other towns," and these hours are more convenient for them.

Dr. Hastings is enthusiastic about coming to Findlay. "We have a lot of current patients that come in from Findlay to Sullivan and Mattoon," he said, noting these patients would have dental care in their own home town.

The Findlay satellite practice is not the first Drs. Hastings and Havlik have started. Six years ago the two Mattoon dentists started a satellite operation in Moweaqua. Dr. Hastings said the reason they started was that gas prices were so high it was easier for the dentist to go to the patient than it was for the patients to come to the dentists.

A third dentist, Dr. Larry Page, joined the two dentists and eventually left the practice to work exclusively fulltime in Moweaqua. Dr. Hastings said there is a possibility this could also happen for Findlay.

The second satellite operation for the dentists came in July, 1983 when the dentists opened the Sullivan Dental Clinic in the Fields-Wright Medical Facility.

Their third satellite operation will be in Findlay where Hastings said, the operation will be "a full office where we can do any kind of dental procedure with the exception of general anesthesia." For this type of dental surgery, Dr. Hastings said they send their patients to an oral surgeon.

In Findlay, Dr. Hastings promised, "We will run our practice the same way we do in Sullivan and Mattoon, offering a full range of services (including) dental care for children, teenagers, adults . . . essentially a family dental practice."

The dentists are scheduling appointments now for the new Findlay office. Dr. Hastings said persons interested in dental services can call Mrs. Rodman at 756-8248 to make an appointment or the Sullivan Dental Clinic at 728-8316.

Dr. Hastings stressed that either he or Dr. Havlik are available at any time for emergency situations.

"We're anxious and looking forward to going into Findlay," Dr. Havlik said. "We hope that we will be able to fill the dental needs of the community that aren't being filled now."

Dr. Havlik also noted that he hopes by bringing dental services to Findlay "people don't have to go out of town for them."

He also noted, "We're impressed by the way the members of the community are behind us since they are helping up to get the office in shape."

The Bank of Findlay and Mrs. Briney have spearheaded a fund drive to raise $2,400 to cover the first two years rent on a building owned by Eldon Gourley. This will be the community's contribution to the dental practice.

Volunteers — and the dentists — have been working to remodel the building for the dental equipment which Dr. Hastings and Dr. Havlik will bring to Findlay for the office.

According to Mrs. Briney, the $2,400 will be used by Gourley to purchase the materials for the remodeling project. The Bank of Findlay has been the chief contributor toward the rent, $1,500. Other contributions have been $500 from Shelby County Doctors on Call and $50 from the Findlay Junior Woman's Club.

Mrs. Briney said that $350 is still needed to fully fund the project, and she is still contacting organizations and individuals to make contributions.

"We appreciate the opportunity to come to Findlay," Dr. Hastings said. "The gesture made by the community (to contribute toward the rent) is good," he said.

Findlay will have the services of two experienced dentists when Drs. Hastings and Havlik open their practice in less than a month.

Dr. Hastings is a native of central Illinois. He attended public schools and graduated from Macon High School and Millikin University of Decatur. Before entering the field of dentistry, he was a teacher and coach at Moweaqua High School. Dr. Hastings attended dental school at Washington University in St. Louis and obtained his D.D.S. degree in 1966. He has practiced dentistry for 20 years in Mattoon.

His associate, Dr. Havlik graduated from Illinois Wesleyan University in Bloomington in 1977. He graduated from the Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine in Alton in 1980.

Dr. Havlik has been associated with Dr. Hastings in the Mattoon dental practice since 1980.

Dental care may not be the only medical service available to Findlay after a dry spell of having no service. It's been several years since O.G. Kauder, M.D. closed his Findlay office, but there is interest in offering part-time medical services.

Mrs. Briney told the Findlay Village Board last week that after receiving a call from Garland Strohl, administrator of Shelby Memorial Hospital, she was searching for a building which could house a medical practice.

Strohl told Mrs. Briney that there were Shelbyville doctors interested in having office hours in Findlay. Strohl said equipment was available for a reception room and two examining rooms for a Findlay office.

The search for a building is continuing.

Meanwhile, for the first time in 40 years, Findlay residents won't have to travel out of town for dental services. Those services will be conveniently close by.

MeThinks

Television advertisements still drive me up a wall. Most of them are so dumb, but absurdity does get our attention. I guess I'm not a quick thinking person. Sometimes I have trouble switching from the program to the commercials. I sit for an instant sometimes thinking what does this have to do with the program?

I was watching a show Saturday afternoon where two men were telling which movies are good and which are not. They said next will be a movie about a high school that is dangerous. The next thing I heard was, "I am Orville Redenbacher."

I hate the way they sneak commercials in on you. They're always saying, "We'll be right back, and that may end up being after six or eight commercials."

Then there are the commercials that they do over and over again in a short period of time. That really bugs me. Especially one that gives the telephone number over and over. One time that number kept going over and over in my mind, and I couldn't shove it out. Sounds crazy doesn't it?

Well, one time an elderly man told me he was about to lose his mind because he couldn't quit whistling, "Rinso White." That's a little ditty that a lot of you won't remember. In fact I haven't heard it for a long time, and I don't even know if there's still a laundry soap called Rinso.

The strange part of the telephone number that tried living with me is that I would have no use for their product and no reason to call. In fact I probably couldn't remember a number I really wanted to call.

I breathed another sigh of relief Saturday morning when I knew that all of the kids who went to the prom Friday night were safely home. I'm not even a parent of a prom goer, but I still worry about it. I heard them honking horns in the middle of the night and in the wee hours of the morning. I guess they wanted to announce their presence when they returned home to change clothes to go to post prom activities and the second time when they were back in town to stay. The noise didn't bother me. I was just glad to know they were having a good time.

The fate of a couple in Cokeville, Wyo. apparently backfired when they got death instead of $300 million in ransom that they demanded for the release of 150 students and teachers at a small school. Thankfully, none of the students died in the bomb blast, but about half of them were injured. It's hard to believe there are so many sick people in the world. It scares me.

I never can remember whether Memorial Day falls on the 30th like I think it's supposed to or on some Monday picked at random. Well, my calendar says it's the 26th and of course on a Monday. I guess either day is okay for visiting cemeteries, flying flags, marching and especially remembering our war dead, but it's so confusing. I think there should be a grandfather clause that says once a holiday has been celebrated on the same date for so many years, it would have to stay on that date. It certainly would be less mind boggling.

This weekend the American Legion Auxiliary will be on the streets and at strategic places around town selling the little red flower, the poppy. The money that comes from the sale of poppies goes to help veterans in one way or another, so if you appreciate those who defend our country in war and peace, BUY one. Be generous. Don't drop a dime in the box if you can afford more. If the American Legion and Auxiliary have banded together to help veterans all year round, we can surely help them out with a little cash. Show your patriotism by wearing a poppy.

Have a safe Memorial Day weekend!

VILLAGE OF FINDLAY

Natural Gas Budget Billing Plan

The Village of Findlay is again offering a Budget Billing Plan to all natural gas customers. This plan will start with the natural gas bills mailed in June, 1986. (These bills will be for the May, 1986 usage.) The Budget Billing Plan will then be for the next 12 consecutive months.

The purpose of this plan is to allow Village natural gas customers to average their bills over a 12 month period, rather than paying for actual monthly usage. All customers will still pay the same amount for a 12 month period, however budget billing will allow customers to avoid very large bills associated with the winter months by averaging their usage throughout the year.

Details of the plan are available at the Village Hall during normal business hours.

Customers in the Budget Billing Plan last year will also have to sign-up again.

The scheduled sign-up dates for this year will be: May 23rd through June 1st, 1986.

"Itch" The Season

For Poison Ivy, Oak, Sumac

A summer campout at Grandma and Grandpa's pond, or nature walks along our own Lake Shelbyville can be a lot of fun. But for those of you who are susceptible to poison ivy, poison oak and poison sumac you may end up with some painful souvenirs.

Not everyone who comes into contact with these plants will be affected by them. Only those of you who are allergic to them will develop the itching, water blisters and rash that is associated with the allergy.

If you are one of those who never has had problems with poison oak or sumac — beware. You're out of the woods yet, because people may gain or lose sensitivity to these plants over time, so past immunity is no guarantee that you will not develop an allergic reaction in the future.

What should you do if you do run across poison ivy, oak or sumac this summer? Stay away from it if possible. If you do get the clear, oily sap on yourself or your clothing, wash with soap and water as soon as you can.

Whatever you do, don't scratch the affected area, don't touch your eyes or mouth.

The symptoms of poison ivy, oak or sumac include itching, burning and red "water blisters" — as well as headache and fever. These symptoms may appear only a few hours after exposure to the plants — or they may take up to seven days.

If you think you've been in contact with poison oak, ivy or sumac, it's important to wash yourself — and your clothing — right away. Plain old soap and water — and plenty of it — is your best bet for removing the sap from both skin and clothing. If you wait more than a few minutes to wash the sap from your skin, there's little you can do to prevent an allergic reaction.

State Homemakers Camp

The State Homemakers Camp will be held July 27-30 at 4-H Memorial Camp in Monticello. The theme for this year's camp is "Hello Dolly."

Swing Set Safety

The schools in Shelby County will soon be letting out for summer vacation and I am sure that many parents are thinking about things that the kids enjoy and can do this summer.

Well, almost all children enjoy playing on a swing set or on some type of playground equipment. But as with any type of toy, safety should be one of the first things to consider. Every year many accidents occur on playground equipment.

Below I have listed some things you need to check when purchasing a new set or on your existing play set.

• Make sure all equipment is installed and maintained.

• If purchasing a new set, make sure it has detailed instructions so you can safely assemble the set.

• If possible anchor swing set legs in concrete. But if concrete is not possible, then use anchoring devices and be sure that the pegs are well below the ground level.

• Make sure that there are no exposed screws or bolts. If you can't find a set of protective caps, then tape over protrusions.

All rusted areas on the metal tubing should be sanded and repainted. Rust does weaken metal, so it's important to repair or replace rusted parts immediately when you first notice them.

Ralph and Juanita Graven spent Sunday with Bill and Eileen Wheeler of Mattoon at their campsite near Eagle Creek State Park.

Woman's club receives awards at GFWC state convention

Though the Findlay Junior Woman's Club is one of the smallest clubs in the state, the club received a large number of awards recently at the Illinois State Convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The Findlay Junior Woman's Club received word from Karen Huffman, junior district director of the 19th district that they had received several awards at the GFWC State Convention held the first week of May in Chicago.

The Findlay club had already received recognition at the junior level in the 19th district in the areas of health (first place), international affairs (first place), education (second place), home life (second place), scrapbook (third place) and having Paula Kunzman, Junior Clubwoman of the Year and Ann E. Lee, Outstanding Junior Clubwoman, represent the 19th district at the state level.

The club received a first place award from the general division of women's club at the district level in the legislation department. The club keeps members informed on legislative issues on the local and state level, and letters are sent to state representatives regarding issues and comments. Several club members help serve on local election committees, and contact is constant of meeting with local officials and keeping members informed of actions.

The Findlay club received first place in the area of public relations from the GFWC general division in the district for their continued record of club activities by means of the annual club scrapbook and for the monthly newsletter sent to all members by the club president.

They were credited for work done during Junior Week, the membership dinner, work regarding the Statue of Liberty and all news articles that appear in the Findlay Enterprise regarding club activities. The club was credited for their pizza making project in this department that helps fund a variety of projects. Recognition for work regarding Findlay Days participation such as the ice cream social and members helping other organizations was noted. The club was credited for working with the schools, other organizations and home extension units to provide different activities for the community.

The health department received a second place award and also received the GFWC President's Special Heart Fund Award in the district.

The department which covers crime prevention and domestic violence received a second place award. The Findlay club purchased two books for the libraries entitled, "It's My Body," for public awareness in this area. A program on child abuse was also given by member Cherise Crut, and credit was given for her investigative series in this area by attending workshops. The club also promoted Operation Child I.D. by encouraging members to use the kit provided by the Inter-state Studio when students received their school pictures.

A third place award was presented for work in the international affairs department from the general division of GFWC.

Education received a first place from the GFWC, and the club also received a third place in their division for a membership increase of 29.4 percent.

The efforts of the Findlay Junior Woman's Club during Junior Week received a second place in the district in the general division. The citizenship division received recognition for a donation made to the Statue of Liberty and for two essay contests regarding citizenship.

In the area of performing arts, the Findlay club received a first place in the general division of GFWC on the district level and also first on the state level. The club was credited in this area for the support and volunteers' hours to help the youth in the community by assisting in the project to raise money to purchase new stage curtains at the high school and to assist with the musical production of "A Cabbage Patch Dream." They were also recognized for their contribution of providing refreshments to the public after the musical and for their contribution to the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary to help with donations for prize money for costume judging at Halloween time. In this area, the club is also honored for their scholarship contributions to area students in the field of music, speech, art and other areas.

On the state level of GFWC, the club received in the junior division, a second place in the area of health and also received the president's heart contest award and the president's special project award in the area of health regarding the American Heart Assn. International affairs received a second place in the state in the junior division for the Findlay club's support of a foster child for several years.

In the citizenship department of the junior level in the state, Bradley Smith received a second place on the state level, student division for his essay in the citizenship essay contest. This essay was printed earlier this year in the Findlay Enterprise.

Club president Gloria Livergood said, "The club has received a lot of awards, but that is not our main objective. It is always nice to be recognized for efforts and hard work, but we thank the community for their support in our activities and thus we can continue to expand our involvement and reach more of the community residents."

"We care about Findlay and its growth and want everyone to know, this is a community with a heart. We usually all stick together for the best benefit of the community. We hope the community will continue to support us, and thus we all can show our share of concern for others and Findlay."

Season ticket sales are brisk

Season ticket sales for 1986 productions at The Little Theatre on the Square have been brisk, exceeding last year's total sales by more than 100 three weeks before the first show opens June 11.

The high subscription sales are further confirmation of the successful transition from a 'star' theatre to a professional residential company," Brett Landow, managing director, says.

Single tickets go on sale May 27 for the season's three musicals and two plays. However, Landow warned that Tuesday evening has been popular with season ticket purchasers, so "people who wish to attend these performances may find a more limited choice of seating."

"Guys and Dolls" opens Wednesday, June 11 and closes Sunday, June 22. It will be followed by "The Rainmaker," June 25-July 6 (no show on July 4); "A Day in Hollywood-A Night in the Ukraine," July 9-20; "Harvey," July 23-Aug. 3; and "Man of LaMancha," Aug. 6-17.

Nearly 80 percent of coal used by CIPS for electricity comes from Illinois

Note: This is the first of a four-part series describing the relationship between CIPS and Illinois coal production and use.

Central Illinois Public Service Co. has begun an informational campaign to increase awareness throughout central and southern Illinois of the utility's use of Illinois coal to generate electricity.

Clyde S. Heaton, vice president of public relations for CIPS, said surveys of CIPS customers have shown that many have misconceptions about the utility's use and purchases of coal.

"We were pleased to learn that about seven of ten customers know that we use coal for generating electricity," Heaton said. "However, only one in four thought most of that coal comes from Illinois. Actually, nearly 80 percent of the coal we purchased in 1985 came from Illinois mines. The remainder was Illinois Basin coal from neighboring Indiana and Kentucky."

CIPS owns and operates five power stations, all of which burn coal to generate electricity. The utility has no nuclear or hydroelectric stations in operation or under consideration. Heaton pointed out that purchases of Illinois coal by CIPS last year totaled nearly four million tons, at a cost of about $128 million.

"Coal is our largest single operating expense in producing electricity," Heaton said. "Of each dollar paid by our electric customers for service, about 33 cents represents the cost of coal."

"Our reliance on Illinois coal means that most of those dollars are staying right here, helping keep Illinois miners at work," Heaton added.

He pointed out that Illinois mines from which CIPS purchased coal last year employ about 2,800 people. In addition, the Illinois Dept. of Energy and Natural Resources has estimated that production of every one million tons of Illinois coal supports an additional 391 non-mining jobs.

"Considering our purchase of four million tons of Illinois coal in 1985, CIPS and its customers supported an estimated 4,300 Illinois jobs," Heaton said.

The utility's informational campaign carries the message, "CIPS Powers You With Illinois Coal." Customers will see that theme in advertising and bill enclosures.

In addition, CIPS is making available brochures with information about Illinois coal and providing speakers to civic clubs, schools and other groups.

"Given today's concern about the cost of utility service, it's important that people know how their dollars are being spent," Heaton commented. "We hope our customers will understand that a large share of their dollars is being used to benefit the economy in central and southern Illinois through our purchases of coal."

Shelby hospital expands emergency room coverage

Shelby Memorial Hospital will begin the annual summer program of expanded weekend and holiday emergency department coverage Saturday, May 24.

A physician will be on duty in the emergency department on weekends from noon on Saturday until 8 p.m. on Sunday as well as on holidays. A hospital medical staff physician will be on-call, 24 hours a day during the week.

"We contract to expand the emergency department weekend-holiday coverage during the summer in order to provide Lake Shelbyville residents and visitors with prompt, quality health care," said Garland Strohl, hospital administrator, "and so that our medical staff can get some time off on weekends during the summer."

The expanded physician staffing, beginning Memorial weekend and running through Labor Day weekend, is being provided by Spectrum Emergency Care, Inc. Spectrum has provided the summertime coverage for Shelby Memorial Hospital since 1980.

Spectrum is the largest provider of contract emergency department physician staffing and management services in the country. A St. Louis-based company, it has been in operation since 1971 and currently provides contracted emergency department physician staffing for nearly 350 hospitals across the country.

CIPS plugs into Illinois coal.

When you see a pile of Illinois coal, it's hard to believe it contains energy. Every day at CIPS we use that energy to make electricity. And by buying Illinois coal, we contribute to the energy of our economy, and that's important to all of us!

CIPS has been committed to using Illinois coal for decades. In 1985, we bought almost four million tons of Illinois coal, at a cost of over 127 million dollars. In fact, about 33 cents out of each dollar you pay us for electricity goes for coal.

But the economic effects of using Illinois coal go far beyond our initial purchase. That money goes out into the community. For each dollar we spend on Illinois coal, there is an estimated additional benefit of $3.50 to Illinois' economy. That means our 1985 coal purchases benefitted the Illinois economy by nearly half-a-billion dollars.

We're proud of that, and proud to be associated with the Illinois coal industry.

Case of the missing 65,000 gal. of H²O

Findlay residents awoke Sunday morning to a very dry town. There was no water anywhere.

Doug Ryherd, utility supervisor, said Sunday that a person ran over a fire hydrant around 3 a.m. and the accident was unreported.

By 5:30 p.m., Ryherd had received the first of several calls that there was no water in town — the water tower was drained — 65,000 gallons of water down the drain.

Village employees searched the town for the problem and finally found it at the corner of Bates and Division Street.

Ryherd and Tim Spellman, with the assistance of Morris Nichols, worked to repair the damage and water service was restored to town by 10:30 a.m.

According to a report from the Shelby County Sheriff's office, Michael Wooters, 20, went to sleep and ran over the hydrant. A license plate was found at the scene of the accident giving Shelby County deputies a place to start their investigation.

Wooters was issued a citation for failure to report an accident. An estimated $150 in damages was done to the car, a 1979 Buick owned by Wooters' parents.

Because the water tower was completely drained, Findlay was under a boil order from early Sunday morning through Tuesday.

Eagle Creek Triathlon scheduled for June 7

The Eagle Creek triathlon, which drew a surprisingly large field in its debut last summer, will be held June 7.

Entries are now being accepted for the swimming, bicycling, running race, the first of three such events planned at Dept. of Conservation sites this year.

Participants will leave the Eagle Creek beach at 9 a.m. for a half-mile swim and ten-mile bicycling stretch followed by a three mile run.

A similar 15.5 mile triathlon will be held July 19 at Moraine View State Park near LeRoy. A biking-running biathlon is slated for Oct. 4 at Lake Murphysboro State Park near Murphysboro.

"The races, while strenuous, should not be beyond the capabilities of the average physical fitness enthusiast," according to DOC coordinator Jim Fulgenzi. "Participants, however, should be in reasonably good physical shape in order to compete safely."

Entrants must be at least 18 years of age.

Entry forms are available at the state parks and through the DOC special events section, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, 62706, 782-7454.

Forms for the Eagle Creek race are also available from several businesses in the Lake Shelbyville area.

Special events are planned at Eagle Creek following the race, Fulgenzi said.

"Since the race coincides with the state's Free Fishing Days, some of our post-race activities will capitalize on the angling opportunities at Lake Shelbyville," he explained. "We may have a father-son fishing tournament, for example."

Other activities will include a volleyball tournament, tug-o-war contests, egg tosses, watermelon eating and a limbo contest, he revealed.

Eagle Creek beach to open 10 a.m. Saturday

The beach in nearby Eagle Creek State Park will open at 10 a.m. this Saturday, May 24 according to Illinois Dept. of Conservation officials.
