

Three young men are working for the village of Findlay this summer through the federally funded Job Training Partnership Act. Among the many jobs they will be doing this summer will be to minimize the weed problem in Findlay. The JTAP workers are Matt Bridgeforth, Brian Voyles and Troy Chapman, all Findlay residents.

Eight week summer rec program will begin Monday in Findlay

For the second year a summer recreation program will be available for Findlay youngsters. Debbie Spellman, a Findlay Grade School teacher's aide, will coordinate the program this year.

The eight week summer recreation program will begin Monday, June 16. According to Spellman, the program will run from 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Wednesday. On Thursday the program participants will meet from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. She is calling this a "Field Trip Day."

Just as last year's program, this year's recreation program is sponsored by the federally funded JTPA (Job Training Partnership Act). The salaries of Spellman and two youth assistants will be paid through the funds.

Findlay children interested in participating in the summer program can register from 9 a.m. to noon Monday, June 16 in Findlay Grade School. Parents should attend the registration session with their children.

Spellman said that on sunny days the children will meet at the Findlay Mini Park for outdoor activities. On rainy days the summer recreation program will meet in the Findlay Community Center.

"The program includes lots of fun . . . with games, field trips, arts and crafts, and special days such as Balloon Day and Olympic Day," Spellman said. "Come join the fun," she added.

Activities scheduled for the summer recreation program for the week of Monday, June 16 through Thursday, June 19 include a craft project presented by Connie Warnings, craziest hat contest, plaster of Paris, fingerpainting, "Help the Lady — Statue of Liberty — Campaign, and a field trip.

The field trip will be to Forest Park in Shelbyville and will include a picnic lunch and swimming in the pool.

Four Findlay students named to LLC dean's list

The names of four Findlay students were included on the Lake Land College dean's list for students earning a grade point average of 3.65 or better on a scale of four during the 1986 spring semester.

Kathy D. George, Craig L. Macklin, Michelle D. Saddoris and Judith A. Sparks achieved a grade point average of 3.65 or better for the semester.

In order to qualify for the dean's list, a student must have carried at least 12 semester hours of work and achieved the high grade point average. A grade of "A" is four points, a "B" is three points, a "C" is two points, etc.

Third man is hired for police position

By Cherise Cruit

Enterprise Editor

If "three" is indeed a charm, then Findlay has permanent police protection — finally.

After two job applicants were offered the job, accepted and later turned it down, the third was interviewed, hired and accepted the position Tuesday evening. He will be on duty this weekend.

Mike Welch, 33, of Champaign, was hired at a special board meeting Tuesday evening. He is a native of Herrick and has 12 years of experience as a police officer.

Currently employed for Community Technology in Champaign, he has been building computer systems for police departments since July 1985.

Previous to starting that job, Welch was chief of police in Villa Grove for two years and chief of police in Ramsey for three years. He was also a police officer in California for seven years.

Welch graduated from Herrick High School in 1970. He received his police training in California, and this takes the place of the Illinois equivalent of attending Police Training Institute.

During the interview Tuesday evening, village trustees questioned Welch about youth problems, traffic from Lake Shelbyville, drunk drivers and other police protection problems.

Welch agreed that he would fluctuate his hours. He also agreed that if he was home, he would handle any calls, even if he was not on duty.

He told the board, "I don't like wishy-washy boards," and added, "Give me the guidelines . . . but once you do don't change in midstream." Welch also said he would not enforce the law for one person and let another person off, stressing, "I am a professional police officer . . . I was taught to treat everyone equally."

Unlike the first police officer Findlay hired, Welch told the board he had no applications in anywhere else. He has never been suspended or reprimanded, and he has never had to take any medical leave. In fact, he told the board it has been 15 years since the last time he saw a doctor.

When asked by trustees about attending public functions in uniform (such as basketball games) Welch said he would be visible. In his first week as chief of police in Villa Grove he went to every business and introduced himself. He will do the same in Findlay.

WHEN HE WAS POLICE chief in Ramsey, Welch said he started a reserve unit. He hand picked six individuals, trained them and sent them to firearms training. The village gave them a salary of $1 per year, provided uniforms and paid for the firearms training and insured them for workman's compensation and liability.

He said the program worked quite well and was still continuing in the small Fayette County community. The members of the reserve unit spent a minimum of 16 hours per month in working with Welch. They also worked weekends, basketball games and other times when extra police protection was needed, but the funds weren't there to pay for it.

Welch also told the board he would provide a monthly police log of activities to the board. While not listing specific instances or names, the log would include the number of calls he answered, accidents covered, and other information including his courses.

He agreed to having the Findlay police telephone in his home and would even carry a pager when off duty, and cited the example of fishing on nearby Lake Shelbyville.

Welch also said when he was in Ramsey, he responded to calls for the Fayette County Sheriff's Dept. and would do the same if called by the Shelby County Sheriff.

Hired at a salary of $15,000, Welch was told his salary would be reviewed at the end of six months and then again after another six month.

He will be working with former Findlay policeman Jim Giles and temporary policeman Forest Getz. Welch said he wants to be completely oriented to the community before the Fourth of July weekend.

Trustees Dwight Riley, Bob Cox, Dave Thurber and Larry Rodman attended the special meeting and voted unanimously to hire Welch.

HIRING A POLICEMAN was the last item on the agenda during the board's regular meeting Monday night. Following a discussion in open session, the board adjourned to closed session to discuss the problem.

When they emerged from the meeting they decided to hire Larry Sullivan of Mattoon. Sullivan was one of three candidates interviewed May 27 when the board decided to hire John Severns of Cowden.

Village president Pauline Briney — who also serves as police commissioner — telephoned Sullivan and extended an offer of employment. He accepted Monday evening.

Early Tuesday morning, Sullivan called Briney to turn the job down. Evidently the salary was inadequate to his needs.

The low salary was also a problem for the third candidate interviewed for the position on May 27. Brent Fogelman of Findlay asked the board for a minimum salary of $17,000.

During the discussion in open session board members appeared unwilling to pay this salary. They also rejected a suggestion to have a "live in deputy." This program is practiced in some counties, but not Shelby since the current sheriff, Bob Collins, is not interested.

IN OTHER ACTION, Riley gave a report on dilapidated property. He told the board he had met with Becky Fathauer of the Shelby County Health Dept., and they toured the town looking at properties that needed to be cleaned up with buildings that had to be repaired or torn down.

"She hasn't gotten back to me," Riley said. However, he added, "She said several need to be torn down."

Riley also reported he had written letters about weed filled yards. Briney suggested that one area where weeds needed to be cleared

MeThinks

by Pauline Briney

I was driving around town at dusk one day recently and decided that there must be thousands of cats in this town. There must be a lot of strays because I can't believe we have that many feline owners here. I don't own one, but almost everytime I go outside I see one, two or maybe three or four. That's okay with me as long as they don't touch me. I'm one of the few people who is scared senseless if a cat gets too close to me. I really can't see the difference in having leash laws for cats or for dogs. I'm sure cats on the loose do as much damage as dogs. They just don't bark as loudly or as often.

I've been discriminated against because I work for a newspaper. But I was warned when I first started to work there that if we had an accident or got into trouble the story would appear — and on the front page. I was glad to see it actually did make front page when I ran my car into the old laundromat building. Several people gathered around and were saying, "Make sure this gets in the paper." I was saying, "It will! It will!" Then they requested that we have a picture to put with it. I did not object to that either. The problem was created when they wanted to use my camera. I had left it with Ben Dawdy to take graduation pictures, so I sent Marsha Allen to get it. Kevin was the only one home, and he didn't know where the camera was, hence no picture. I guess the hidden camera was a good idea after all. Some of the people in the small crowd wanted to have my picture taken with the Shelby County deputy putting handcuffs on me or putting me in the squad car. That would have been misleading because the deputy never mentioned giving me a lift to the county jail, and I wouldn't have wanted to go anyway. One joker even told me, "We knew you wanted to get rid of some of the old buildings in town, but that's not the way to do it. Believe me, I had no thought of leveling a building with that Thunderbird. We'll need bulldozers for that."

If you haven't yet heard how that incident happened, when I tried to take my foot off the accelerator my toes slipped out and the shoe went sideways and lodged under the brake. I've heard a song that says, "These shoes ain't made for walking. Well, I believe it's possible these shoes ain't made for driving. It may seem a little more comical now, but at the time, boy, WAS I EM-BARRASSED!"

The triathlon was a great success. But when it's over, it's over. It seems that most of the people there are participants, their friends and family, Dept. of Conservation staff and volunteers. Plans are made to have fun day all day, but as soon as the awards are presented, people leave like shooed flies. They had live music and games for kids and adults to last out the afternoon. I had to leave for an appointment so I don't know how the afternoon turned out, but when I left there weren't many bodies left. See? So many of us say we don't have anything to do. So? How many of you missed a fun day in the park on Saturday?

I have heard from a pretty good source that groundbreaking for the new Eagle Creek Resort will take place sometime in August.

I was pleased to meet Penny Severns, Democrat candidate for state senator, Saturday afternoon. I was impressed with her knowledge and think anyone who talked to her would be. I like the fact that she wants to get out into the small towns in the area. I have never seen her opponent Jim Rupp, in Findlay. I like a politician who is interested in all the nooks and crannies of their area. I think we'll be seeing more of her. I read about Penny Severns for years but had not had the opportunity to meet her before. She's all the things I'd like to be. Pretty, petite and smart.

Father's Day

Father's Day is here once again, and once again I miss my dad more than ever. My dad carried to his grave 84 years of wisdom, experience, love, kindness and thoughtfulness. Many are the times I wish he was still with us so we could benefit from his lifetime of knowledge. I can remember a time when I was very young that I thought he was overly strict and not so intelligent. That was a time when I, as most children, thought I knew so much. How very wrong I was. When I became a parent I realized that he, not I, was the intelligent one. It's strange how your thoughts and attitudes change so swiftly. If you're a youngster I can guarantee you, your dad is smarter than you think. If you're an adult, fortunate to have him still with you, I'm sure you feel the same as I do. When he's gone you'll miss him more than you can imagine. So while you have him tell him how much you love and appreciate him. Someday it will be too late. What better time than Father's Day to pay him a visit. He might appreciate a gift, but nothing would please him more than an "I love you Dad." Four short words can mean so much.

29th Theatre season opens

First performed here during the first season at the Little Theatre in 1957, "Guys and Dolls," opened the 29th season at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Based on the works of Damon Runyon, the musical features such all time favorites as "Luck Be a Lady Tonight," "Bushel and a Peck," "Sit Down You're Rocking the Boat" and "If I Were a Bell." The musical encored on the Sullivan stage in 1959 featuring the then relatively unknown Alan Alda in the role of Sky Masterson, the character created in the Broadway production by his father, the late Robert Alda.

This year the role is played by Kevin Paul Hofeditz.

Theatergoers will be treated not only to nostalgia, catchy songs and a talented cast, but a unique set design. The sets will be on the move and constantly changing to adjust to the shifting requirements of the action on stage.

Sixteen performances will be given before this first show of the season closes with a special Jim Edgar Day performance June 22.

Tickets are available by calling 728-7375.

The Little Theatre is partially supported by a grant from the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency, and the National Endowment of the Arts. It is the only professional Equity theatre south of Interstate 80.

Group performs at FFA convention

Uphoffs host graduation party

Duane, Marjorie, Doug, Tim, Pam and Craig Uphoff hosted a post-graduation reception for their daughter and sister, Angela in their country home.

Those attending were Gilbert and Lois Uphoff, Stanley and Pat Uphoff, Troy and Missy Agney, Sara Hardy, Marion, Verna, Wes and Eddie Ballinger, Arnold and Janet Strohl and Tracey Lewis, all of Shelbyville.

Also, Nathan Jesse, Frosty, Joan and Cindy Herron, Ron and Nedra Hash, Gloria and Julie Livergood, Jenna Wirey, Bob, Elaine, Kelly, Jessica and Leah Smith, Mark Carolyn, Matthew, Jeremy and Leann Lash, Lewis, Judy and Tracey Coleman, all of Findlay.

Also, Roger, Judy, Chad and Jenny Uphoff of Lovington; Dick and Virginia Cutler, Larry, Lynette, Shari and Shannon Cutler of Moweaqua; Jack Gibson and Vicki Hostetter of Bloomington; and Jeff Yantis of Mattoon.

Connie and Connie Jo Yantis were unable to attend because of illness.

Several perform in dance concert

Jessica and Leah Smith, Stephanie and Brenda Lebo, Krista Shoemaker, Leanne Lash and Sarah Roney danced in the 12th anniversary dance concert of the Ballet Arts School of Decatur. The dance concert was held Saturday in Kirkland Fine Arts Center on the campus of Millikin University.

Kim Kruep, granddaughter of Margaret Carson, and Courtney and Heidi Ward, granddaughters of Lawrence and Wilma Camfield, also performed in the concert.

Findians in the news

Sunday dinner guests of Carolee and Bill White were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kirkwood. They were celebrating the birthdays of Bill White and Vada Kirkwood.

Missy Voyles spent Monday through Wednesday camping with her grandparents, Roy and Nancy Voyles, at Wolf Creek State Park.

Fred and Chris Tippit were overnight guests Saturday night of Andy, Michelle and Kelly Sitkowski of Elk Grove.

Fred Tippit and Mike Voyles were overnight guests Saturday evening in the home of Linda Hastings, Fred's mother.

Tippits attend Elk Grove graduation

Fred and Chris Tippit attended graduation ceremonies at Elk Grove High School Sunday, June 8.

Tim Tippit was one of the 356 graduating seniors to participate in the ceremonies which were held outdoors on the school's football field.

Others attending were Michelle and Kelly Sitkowski, Rhonda and Stephan Kasprzak, Bill and Linda Hastings, all of Elk Grove and Fred Tippit and Mike Voyles of Findlay.

A reception was held in Tim's honor in the home of his mother following the graduation ceremonies.

Enochs attend Decatur graduation

Woodrow and Marjorie Enoch attended graduation ceremonies at Eisenhower High School in Decatur for their granddaughter, Renee Griffith.

Following the program, an open house was held in her honor for 70 relatives and friends in the home of her parents in Decatur.

Rich and Kathleen Waggoner, Lindsay, Ashton and Tennille assisted with the reception and attended the graduation ceremony.

Gene and Helen Sies of Litchfield and Merna and Arnold Bohlmeier of Shipman were special guests.

Birthday parties held for Emily Cruit

Mike and Cherise Cruit hosted a birthday party Thursday evening for the fourth birthday of their daughter, Emily.

Cake and ice cream were served to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cruit, Sylvia Parr, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Roley and Doug and Mr. and Mrs. Van Cruit, Dustin and Derek.

Earlier, at a children's party held Saturday, Emily's birthday guests were Danielle and Drew Risley of Sullivan, Leann Lash and Leslie Rodman. Assisting with the party were John Cruit and Laura Rodman.

Saturday supper guests of Carolee and Bill White were Ruby Welty and Virginia Malloy of Decatur. Ruby furnished the birthday cake and ice cream for Bill's 20th birthday celebration.

Royal wins the Governor's Award

Governor James R. Thompson named the village of Royal as the Grand Prize Winner of the 1986 Governor's Home Town Awards Tuesday for building a community center using strictly volunteer efforts.

Royal also won in the same category the village of Findlay was entered in for the award, Category I (population up to 1,500). Findlay had been nominated for an award on the basis of the volunteer efforts of the Findlay High School FFA to remodel the Findlay Community Center and create the new Findlay Mini Park.

"Every day throughout Illinois, citizens work diligently as volunteers without fanfare or personal monetary gain to improve the communities in which they live. In doing so, they combine their talents and form new and effective partnerships with local governments, business, labor, voluntary organizations and individual citizens," Thompson said.

The Governor presented the Royal contingent with the silver Governor's cup, which goes each year to the best volunteer effort.

Royal is a community of 274 people located between Champaign and Danville. Through their three-day centennial celebration in 1982, Royal citizens raised $45,000. Subsequent fundraisers, supervised by Royal Centennial, Inc., a local not-for-profit corporation, raised an additional $100,000.

Labor to build the community center was donated by members of the community. The brick building has air conditioning, complete kitchen and bar facilities and is equipped to handle 500 people for meetings, dinner dances and other functions. The facility was completed in 1985 and has an estimated value of $300,000.

The grand prize winner is selected from the first-place winners of all categories and receives the traveling silver cup.

The Governor's Home Town Awards formally recognizes community improvement and economic development accomplishments resulting from the efforts and commitment of community volunteers. Now in its fifth year, the program is administered by the Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) in cooperation with Governor's Office of Voluntary Action and the Dept. on Aging.

Awards for community projects are divided into eight groups, based on population. Winners are awarded a commemorative plaque and road signs proclaiming the community's selection in the competition. The grand prize winner receives the coveted silver Governor's Cup.

DCCA Director Jay R. Hedges said, "Projects are eligible for Home Town Awards if they involve economic development, community service, human enrichment or youth achievement. Entries are judged on local need and community participation, as well as results and continuity of projects."

Other winners in Category I in which Findlay was entered were: Sugar Grove, second place; Evansville, third place; Morrisonville, first in youth; and Odin, first in senior citizen.

Sugar Grove sponsored a "corn boil" to raise funds for community projects, most notably the creation of a ten-acre park with recreational facilities and pavilion.

Evansville staged a four-day centennial celebration with 10,000 volunteer hours and $17,000 in donated materials and money, attracting thousands of visitors.

Fundraisers conducted by youth and labor in Morrisonville made possible the construction of two official tennis courts valued in excess of $50,000.

Project BREAD (Basic Right of the Elderly to Adequate Diet) in Odin serves meals to the homebound, with 15 senior citizen volunteers working daily. Over 2,000 noon meals were served to 153 seniors.

High sulfur content causes CIPS problems

Note: This is the third in a four-part series detailing CIPS' relationship with Illinois coal.

One of the problems that has to be overcome in using Illinois coal to generate electricity is its relatively high sulfur content, according to Richard J. Grant, manager of Environmental Affairs for Central Illinois Public Service Co.

Despite the sulfur problem, CIPS has taken steps that allow it to continue using Illinois coal to produce electricity and still meet environmental standards, Grant said.

"Through selective purchases of coal and construction of environmental control equipment, we're able to continue our tradition of using Illinois coal and comply with state and federal environmental regulations," he said.

Grant pointed out that CIPS has spent nearly $275 million since 1968 for construction of environmental control equipment. This includes installation of electrostatic precipitators at the five CIPS power stations, all of which use coal. The precipitators remove fly ash, a dust-like substance, from power station emissions.

"This equipment is extremely effective in removing particulate matter from stack emissions," Grant said.

Another piece of equipment that allows CIPS to use Illinois coal and still meet environmental standards is a sulfur dioxide "scrubber" at the utility's Newton Unit 1 generating facility in Jasper County.

"The scrubber system is actually a complex chemical plant which removes sulfur dioxide from the gases that are created when coal is burned in the Unit 1 boiler," Grant said. "The Newton scrubber is regarded as having one of the best availability records, while achieving continuous compliance with regulations, of any scrubber system in the United States for boilers burning high-sulfur coal. It's consistently averaged in the 97 to 98 percent available range."

The scrubber system enables CIPS to use more than one million tons of Illinois coal each year for Newton Unit 1 alone, Grant said. The scrubber and related equipment were constructed at a cost of $121 million, and began operating in late 1979. Annual operating and maintenance costs for the system are about $9.5 million.

During 1985, CIPS purchased nearly four million tons of Illinois coal at a cost of about $128 million for use at its five electric generating stations.

The utility provides electric services to about 307,000 customers in a 20,000-square-mile region of central and southern Illinois.

ROOT CANAL THERAPY EXPLAINED

The patient is experiencing a great deal of pain in a tooth. The dentist tells him that the only way to save it is through root canal therapy. What does this entail? First, the dentist places a rubber dam (a small rubber mask) around the tooth to isolate it and keep the area dry and uncontaminated. He then makes an opening directly into the pulp chamber (completely painless) and removes the diseased nerve and vessels with tiny instruments. Next, the inside of the root is cleaned and medicated. After the canal is free from infection, it is filled and sealed. Some teeth, such as the front teeth, have only one canal. Molars can have three or four.

Root canal therapy is probably one of the best things to have happened in the history of dentistry. A way of saving teeth that once would have been extracted without question. A much better way, however, is to prevent the need for this procedure by regular check-ups and conscientious home care. Prevention has always been better than care.

Robinson named All-American for outstanding year at IWU

BLOOMINGTON — Former Bethany High School standout Brett Robinson is an All-American.

The honor was announced Monday by Illinois Wesleyan University baseball coach Dennis Bridges, for whom the Bethany native fashioned a 1.64 earned run average this season.

Robinson was elected to the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Div. III second team in balloting by members of the American Baseball Coaches Assn. The selections were announced in the current issue of the NCAA News magazine.

"Brett had an All-American year," Bridges said. "The three pitchers ahead of him on the first team must have had great years."

The hard-throwing, junior righthander appeared in 11 games for IWU, completing 10 starts on his way to a 7-4 campaign. He struck out 89, walked 37 and surrendered 50 hits through 76 and two-thirds innings.

His ERA is Wesleyan's best since Tim Siegworth recorded a 1.34 for 33 and two-thirds innings in 1977. Robinson's innings pitched, strikeouts and complete games are the best in the 21 years for which annual statistics have been filed. His 11 appearances and seven victories tie records in the same period.

"Brett had great statistics but he also showed an ability to pitch well under pressure, to win when he didn't necessarily have his best stuff, to pitch well regardless of mistakes that might be made behind him, and he showed a willingness to work to help the team succeed," Bridges praised.

Robinson was voted the Titans' most valuable player and was named to the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin all-star team. He had a 1.32 ERA and 43 strikeouts in 34 innings of CCIW play and pitched a doubleheader in the playoffs. He won a 4-3 decision over Elmhurst before absorbing the 3-1 loss to North Central that ended Wesleyan's season later the same day.

He allowed just one earned run in those two outings.

Joining Robinson on the second team pitching roster are Brian Cassidy of Eastern Connecticut State, Chris Gill of Ithaca and Jerry Kutzler of William Penn.

First team pitchers are Mark Campbell of Johns Hopkins, Anthony Foti of Montclair State and Pete Maldonado of California State-

Brett Robinson

Stanislaus.

The only other CCIW player named on the All-America roster is first team pick Ken Ritter, a North Central outfielder.

Robinson is the grandson of Mrs. Pauline Briney of Findlay.

Miller repeats at Eagle Creek, '87 triathlon may be moved

By Nancy Saegesser

News-Progress Staff Writer

EAGLE CREEK BEACH — Rodney Miller is so far the only person to win the Eagle Creek Triathlon.

The Millikin University junior on Saturday repeated the victory he claimed last August in the first running of the three-event marathon at Eagle Creek State Park on Lake Shelbyville. His winning time was 56 min., 2.6 sec.

That's a little better than the MU swimmer did his first time out, thanks mainly to a decision by the Dept. of Conservation to shorten the course.

Martha McCann, who finished 14th overall in 1:03:05, was the first woman across the tape and the women's overall champ. She was 20 places ahead of the next female finisher.

"Time wise, the finish was pretty much on line with the course changes," according to Dick Garfat, DOC special events coordinator. Miller won the 1985 inaugural event in about an hour and nine minutes.

"The only reason we changed the course was because of the conditions of the outside roads," Garfat continued. "We decided to double up on the bicycle route and keep the entire course inside the park."

A field of 144 entries tested the half mile swim, 10 mile bike ride and three mile run. Garfat said the field represented a 50 percent increase over last year's entries, including "a lot more local entries" and participants from as far away as Chesterfield, Mo. and Minnesota.

Off to a 9 a.m. starting gun, the final finisher crossed the tape about 10:45 a.m.

With construction of a new resort and golf course expected at Eagle Creek next summer, Garfat said the triathlon may be moved to another site.

"Right now, we're looking at moving it to Wolf Creek next year," he explained. "If we can get the cooperation from Shelby County that we've had in the past, that's what we'll do."

Rounding out the top five men's finishers were Kevin Hodley (57:02.6), Tom Griffith (1:00:11.2), Peter Nugent (1:00:33.2) and Jerry Yockey (1:00:50.5).

Rounding out the top five women's finishers were Betty Lawrence (1:08:12.3), Sandy Daniel (1:08:39.9), Celeste Harris (1:08:48.5) and Sharon Hestwick (1:09:00.8).

Hestwick was the defending women's champion.

First place finishers in the various divisions were as follows:

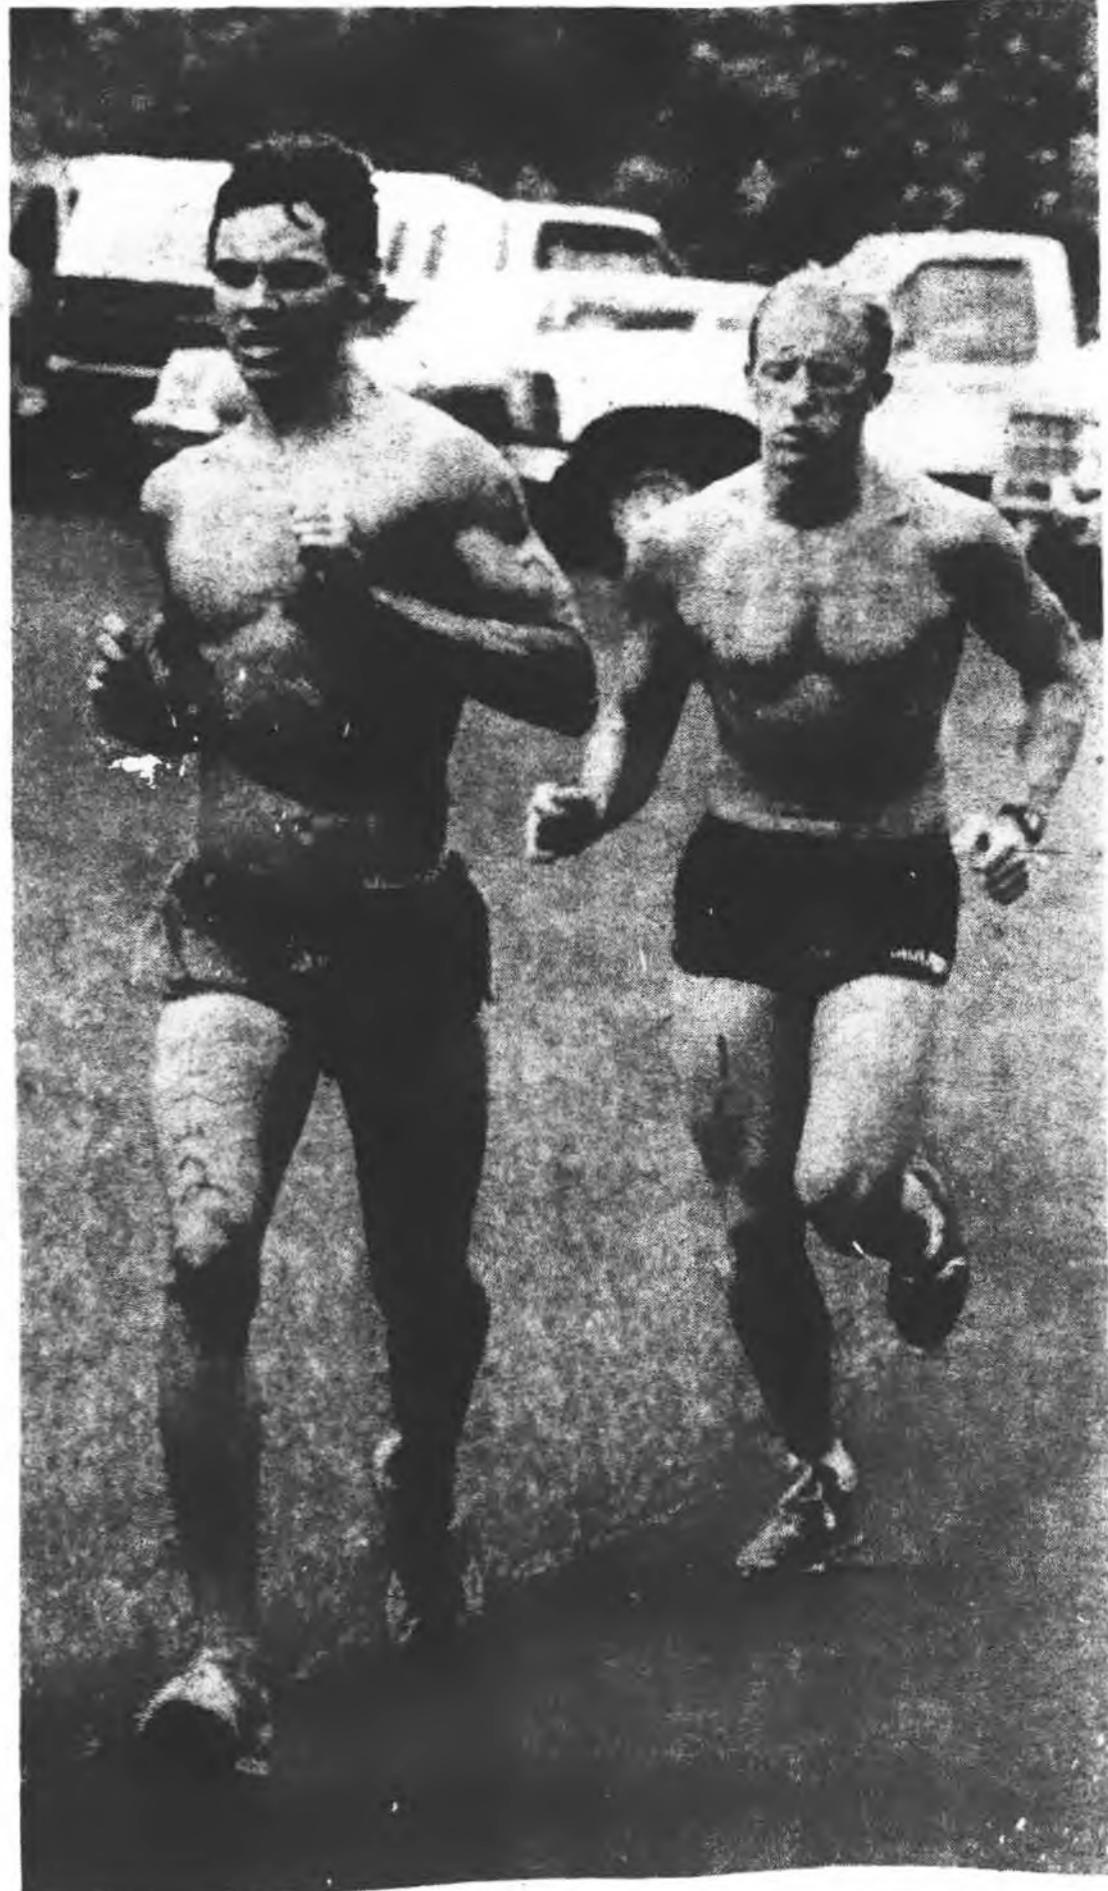

MEN'S — 18 to 29, Pat Jordan, 1:01:23.1; 30 to 39, Mike Richardson, 1:01:00.5; 40 to 49, Gerald Stevenson, 1:01:13.7; 50 and older, Denny Brya, 1:21:23.9.

WOMEN'S — 18 to 29, Lori Keefer, 1:27:00.5; 30 to 39, Mindy Solomon, 1:11:32.8; 40 to 49, no finishers; 50 and older, Gail Bower, 1:24:56.4.

The faces of Eagle Creek

All kinds of expressions appeared on the faces of participants and spectators Saturday at the Eagle Creek Triathlon. There was joy in the pleasure of being together and having a good time among the spectators (top photo). Findlay resident Troy Mayfield (right) displayed sheer determination during the road race. Confidence was displayed by the two eventual winners of the triathlon (left). Rodney Miller won the event for the second year in a row, and Martha McCann was the first place female finisher. Concern was written on the faces of the occupants of a float boat (below) when one of the participants in the triathlon developed stomach cramps and had to be assisted out of the water.
